

reviewable.io: Online Code reviews done right:

- GitHub integration
- Dashboard with your personal reviews
- public and private (only in paid version) repositories supported
- send comments in batches
- tracks review progress

Tutorial:

1. Visit <https://reviewable.io/>
2. SignIn with your GitHub account
3. Navigate to the tab “Repositories”

4. Check the wanted repositories

5. Now you can see every new pull request in your “Reviews” dashboard.

6. Once you click on a pull request you can view the changed code and review it. This can be done by comments for each line of code (by clicking on the line of code) or with a discussion about the whole pull request (by clicking on “Start a new discussion”).

7. The bar on top will show you the status of your and other reviews:

8. After every file is reviewed and every discussion is closed you can publish your review.
9. If every person involved completed their review you can hit “merge & retain branch” and accept the pull request.
